

Michel KAZI is an electronics engineer, graduate from the Technical University of Dresden in Germany. He spent the greater part of his career with the former Air AFRIQUE in Technical and Flight operations Departments He also worked for Shell Cote d'Ivoire before joining OLIZAIR in 2005

- June 2005 : Vice President, Operations OLIZAIR
- Dec. 2002 – Oct. 2004 : Director of Operations (Supply, Storage and Distribution of oil products) SHELL Côte d'Ivoire, Abidjan.
- Feb. 2001 – Jul. 2002 : Director of Flight and ground Operations / AIR AFRIQUE, Abidjan Côte d'Ivoire
- June 1998 – Jan. 2001 : Maintenance Manager, AIR AFRIQUE Repair Facilities (B737-300 Hangar, Avionics and Wheels Shops) and Aircraft line maintenance, Abidjan, Côte d'Ivoire.
Specific task: - Reopening of Abidjan Aircraft maintenance Centre after cessation of AIR AFRIQUE Aircraft maintenance activities in Brazzaville.
- Computerization of the line maintenance.
- Oct. 1992 – May 1998 : Head of Repair Station, AIR AFRIQUE FAA certificated repair Station # AQEY 222 C.
- Maintenance of avionics equipments (Radio communication & navigation, flight Instruments, electromechanical accessories) and Wheels according to FAR 145 standards.
- Maintain operational workshops standards according to FAR 145 requirements through annual renewal of FAA Agreement.
Specific task: SATCOM equipments selection (Satellite Communications) and system installation on AIR AFRIQUE Airbus A310 fleet .
- Jul. 1985 – Oct. 1992 : Avionics Manager, AIR AFRIQUE Engineering Department, Dakar, Senegal.
Specific task: Selection of ACARS equipments (Aircraft Communications Addressing & Reporting System) and system installation on AIR AFRIQUE Airbus A310.
- June 1981 – Jul. 1985 : Manager of "Radio communication" section, Engineering Department, AIR AFRIQUE Abidjan.
- Oct. 1979 – May 1981 : Project Engineer, Engineering Department, AIR AFRIQUE Abidjan.
- Jul. 1976– Sep. 1979 : "Prüffeld Ingenieur", VEB Elektromat, Dresden, Germany.
- Engineer assigned to the test bench department for electric & electronics sets.
Technical Manager, Agence Congolaise d'Information, Brazzaville, Congo (Implementation of Telecommunications Stations in the main cities of Congo).
- Foreign languages : French and German: very fluent. Good level in English.